Mission Focus

Fiji is an archipelago of over 330 islands in the South Pacific. The history of Fiji is complex and the country has faced challenges related to the oceanic expanse of the archipelago. Christianity has been viewed with suspicion historically because of European colonial critique of customs and misunderstanding or overstatement of what was not understood within the culture. The Church of the Nazarene began its work in 1995, and now has 19 fully organized churches, 11 not yet organized churches, and 1,061 members. The Church praises God for a promising recovery from the pandemic and for those who have felt a call to prepare for ministry.
