Mission Focus

Mongolia (Asia-Pacific Region), once a great Eurasian empire under the leadership of Chinggis Khan in the 13th century, broke into smaller Mongol states in the 14th century. The Mongols eventually returned to their original steppe homelands (grassy hillside plains) in the 17th century and have come under Chinese rule several times since then. Mongolia declared its independence in 1911, though this has often been unstable. Mongolia is one of the least densely populated countries in the world. The Church of the Nazarene established its work in Mongolia in 2017 and is actively planting new churches, often in homes (called yurts—round structures of stretched fabric of hides over wooden lattices or poles). Pray for these churches to experience continued spiritual renewal and growth as they serve as a testimony to the unity of the Holy Spirit among believers. Also pray for the 29 district licensed ministers as they complete the Course of Study and other requirements for ordination.
